

Safety Intern

Expected Results

McDanel Advanced Ceramics is looking for a Safety Intern for the summer semester. The Safety Intern will be responsible for assisting the Safety Department in all aspects of McDanel's Safety Program. The successful candidate will assist in the development, implementation and maintenance of the safety programs, systems and procedures.

The Safety internship is intended to provide students with the opportunity to apply academic knowledge and skills in a professional environment and support the student's career goals. The Safety internship experience allows students the opportunity to integrate knowledge and skills in manners that are mutually beneficial to both the student and McDanel Advanced Ceramics.

Supporting Activities

The intern will be responsible for assisting the Safety Department with the following:

- Conducting facility wide hazard assessments to identify hazards and recommend personal protective equipment.
- Assisting in the development, implementation and maintenance of safety programs, systems and procedures.
- Reviewing and updating existing job hazard analysis.
- Taking part in accident and near-miss investigations.
- Other duties may include reviewing and updating various safety programs, policies and training materials.
